3RD YEAR: VOL. 63 -- NO. 16

HOPE, ARKANSAS, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1961

Letters to

Ever since his Arkadelphia speech Oct. 19 advocating the remeval from the voting lists of persons receiving Welfare cash grants or surplus com-modities state-wide mail has been coming to Alex, H. Wash-burn, editor and publisher of The Star. The Star will endeaver to publish all letters. Here is the third group.

Dear sir: I can not quite understand why otherwise intelligent people are so surprised and outraged that the "relief and welby politicians to keep themselves programs are being used in office. What else could anyone have expected of the welfare setup, either when it was proposed, of its use by the politicians does not lie in denying the voting franchise to people who are on the welfåre program, Mr. Washburn. It lies, rather, in so reorganizing welfare program (since we apparently permantly stuck with it), so as to remove it from the hands of the politicians. What we need, and will have to have if we are not to be bankrupted by our official compulsory charities, is a "welfare" organization something like the Civil Service organization. That would separate politics from welfare as much as it is possible to separate them; penalize the politicians who misuse the program—instead of punishing the voters, many of whom are really not to blame for their needs and their old age.

fare Service system of this sort could be made efficient enough, than is possible under the present blast of Monday. stem. In fact, I suspect many voters may be kept on "relief" ing them under the thumbs of the politicians, don't you?

have long been of the opinion that much of it could be handled through insurance companies, under insurance policies purchased and 28th announced by the AEC criment with the governments Soviet insurance instead of carrying the whole principal load as they now do. For example, if the Child Welfare program, why could the state or county not purchase health, accident, and hospitalization policies for the children from Community reliable private companies, pay
